Property Restorations In U. S. Zone Approved

(By Associated Press) STUTTGART, Germany, March 11.—The German council of states of the U. S.-occupied zone approved today a law which will restore up to $125,000,000 worth of properties to persons whose possessions were confiscated during the Nazi regime.

GRADE SCHOOL PLANS PUSHED

Contractors To Bid On Reilly, Buckeye Buildings By May 1

Architect Paul Boucherle of Youngstown, who is working on Salem school building projects, told board members Monday night that plans would be ready for receipt of contractor's bids on Reilly and new Buckeye school projects by May 1.

Boucherle originally had hoped to have the plans ready by June 1, but has been able to complete the preliminary specifications, etc., in time for progress towards start of construction by the May 1 date.

The announcement represents the first step in a $750,000 grade school improvement program sanctioned by voters last fall.

Board plans call for the erection of a new eight-room grade school at the northern end of Buckeye ave. and a 12-room addition to Reilly school as the first part of the program.

Other projects, which will be arranged after the first is started, include room and gymnasium-auditorium additions to Fourth Street, Prospect Street and McKinley schools.

Although costs have risen since original estimates were made the approximate cost of the two original projects, Reilly and the new school, will be about $437,450.

If bids are accepted May 1, the contracts may be let by June 1, after which construction work could begin.

It will require about a year to erect, equip and furnish the new buildings, thus making them available for the full term in 1948.

Average U. S. City Retarded, Is Claim

NEW YORK, March 11.—Dr. Luther Gulick, president of the Institute of Public Administration, told 26 newspapermen here for a three-week seminar on municipal affairs that the average American city is "as obsolete as a 1910 automobile."

Buildings, streets, utilities and transit systems were among the elements listed as obsolete by Dr. Gulick.

He said the central political problem in American cities was caused by the "lazy preoccupied, irresponsible, selfish and uneducated American citizen" who does not contribute to government but is ready to criticize it.

The seminar, sponsored by the American press institute at Columbia university, opened yesterday.

EARTH SHOCK HITS BARBERTON AREA

BARBERTON, March 11.—This industrial city of 30,000 was swayed by a mysterious earth shock last night which threw residents from their chairs and rattled glassware on household shelves.

No one was reported injured and no damage was discovered. Origin of the tremor, which lasted several seconds and was felt in widely-separated areas of the city, was undetermined.

City Engineer Harry D. Bushey said a west Barberton area was shown by record of his office to have sunk approximately two feet in a 20-year period.

The measure required a full year to draft and must have final approval of the United States military government before it is promulgated.

The Germans announced they believed the law should be extended throughout Germany and that it did not leave enough discretion to restitution courts.

Jews Will Benefit

More than 15,000 Jews in the American zone of Germany, who now see strangers running their business, will benefit. So will hundreds of refugees who fled Hitler Germany to escape racial, religious and political terrorism.

Property of dozens of persecuted or dissolved church, trade union and cooperative organizations and Germans whose possessions were seized for their activity in the July 20, 1944, bomb plot against Hitler will be restored under the law.

Heavy prison sentences will be meted out under the law to Germans failing to report possession of property that was not theirs before the Nazi regime.

The restitution law gives the chance of a new start in life only to persons whose former property existed in what is now the American zone of Germany. But the heads of the four U. S. zone states are expected to make an appeal shortly to France, Britain and Russia to make the law effective throughout the former third Reich.

Considered Long Time

Favored in principle by all German political parties in the U. S. zone as a chance for a democratic Germany to right Nazi wrongs, the draft of the law long has been tossed back and forth between the German council of states, U. S. military government and the State department in Washington.

With possible minor revisions before it is put into effect following final American approval, all persons "wrongfully deprived" of property between Jan. 30, 1933, and V-E day will get it back—or an adequate substitute.

Excise Tax Rate Measure Signed

WASHINGTON, March 11.—President Truman today signed legislation extending the wartime excise tax rates.

The legislation continues indefinitely the high wartime levies on such items as liquor, furs, jewelry and cosmetics, and for transportation and telephone services.

Mr. Truman requested the legislation to prevent an automatic rollback of rates that would have taken place July 1 in connection with ending of war powers measures.

The rollback would have brought a loss of an estimated $1,200,000,000 annually in tax revenue.

The measure exempts from the fur tax all fur-trimmed women's coats up to $150 value, and removes the levy on transportation tickets for foreign travel.

Transportation taxes still will be levied for travel in this country and in certain areas of the Western hemisphere north of the equator, except South America.

The meeting is sponsored by the Men's Brotherhood of the church. The public is invited.

FIVE TRAPPED IN BUILDING

Six Others Hurt When Cincinnati Building Collapses

(By Associated Press) CINCINNATI, March 11.—Fire Chief Barney J. Houston expressed doubt that five of six men trapped today in a collapsed downtown building could be reached in time to save their lives.

The building smashed to the ground into its own basement about 9 this morning, pinning the men in the debris.

A constant threat of further collapse, along with escaping gas from broken pipes interfered with rescue work, Houston said. He limited his firemen working in the wreckage to four at a time.

Sam Ostrov, head of the Western Fixture and Bar Supply Co., which owned and occupied the building, was pinned on the first floor of the structure under fallen timbers and Houston expressed hope that he would be taken out alive.

Six Are Hurt

At least six persons were injured. They were taken to General Hospital, where they were identified as: Nate Tonkovich, 51, hurt around forehead and legs.

Earl Borros, 30, hurt about the back.

Henry C. Kessen, 26, hurt around foot and arm and treated for shock.

Salem Man Responsible For Girl Scout Troops Organization Here 10 Years Ago

Salem's Girl Scout organization, which will observe its 10th anniversary with a dinner at 6:30 tonight in the Memorial building, was instigated by Roy West, for many years superintendent of the Methodist church Sunday school.

Now Mrs. Wilbur Spaulding, now Mrs. Wilbur Spaulding, one of the city's leading vocalists, was interested in the movement. West contacted the national headquarters in New York City, and as a result the first two of Salem's 14 troops were organized at the Methodist church in June, 1937.

Sixty-four girls attended the first organization meeting. Mrs. C. J. Lehwald was the first captain and Mrs. Dale Wilson the first lieutenant.

Because the group was so large it was divided into two troops with Mrs. Lehwald leader of Troop 1, and Mrs. O. A. Naragon leader of Troop 2. Mrs.

Draft Board May Close Its Doors

Await Congress Action; Salem Personnel Has Served Faithfully

The curtain will ring down on one of the most well-known offices in Salem at the end of the month if congress does not renew the Selective Service act.

The local draft board, which has served Salem and the surrounding area for almost seven years will be closed down completely.

The board, which has either inducted or handled the enlistments of approximately 3,800 men, has made no inductions since last October. None are anticipated for the balance of March.

Personnel Unchanged

The board is probably one of the very few in the country which has not changed its personnel during the war and peacetime period. All but one of the original five unpaid members are still serving—the other, Wilbur S. Mellinger of Leetown, having died while acting as chairman.

The present chairman is John T. Burns. Other members are James H. Wilson and J. Clyde McKee of Salem and Alfred Barrow of Columbiana. All have served on the board since its inception in October, 1940.

The first draft group left Salem in November, 1940, and since that time 3,800 men have entered the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard through the Salem office.

Ralph R. Woods is clerk. George Griffith was draft board clerk in the early war years.

Boards in other cities have made plans to declare their equipment as surplus property. The Salem office has had no word of any termination notice and so has made no plans for disbandment, according to Woods.

Sohio Boosts Its Price On Gasoline

An increase of one and a half cents a gallon for gasoline, announced yesterday by the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio, is expected to be general with other oil companies, trade circles reported today.

The Sohio price hike will become effective at midnight at all the concern's service stations. Hereafter regular grade gasoline will cost 21 cents and premium grades 23 cents.

Sohio announced its boosted prices following widespread increases of 25 cents a barrel of crude oil on the part of many major petroleum producers.

VA Is Asked To Probe Crile Hospital Case

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Rep. Huber (D-Ohio) requested the Veterans administration today to investigate the resignation of Dr. Alan B. Adam head of the neuropsychiatric department of Crile hospital, Cleveland.

Huber told a reporter he also has discussed the resignation with members of a house veterans subcommittee but decided not to ask it to make an inquiry.

Dr. Adams said in Cleveland that he resigned because of the actions of Dr. Harrison S. Collis, Crile manager, and a "front office clique who still think they are in the army."

Huber said he asked the Veterans administration to ascertain if "politics" had something to do with the resignation.

The Crile Scout reservation, northwest of the city, on the Seacrest rd., was named Camp Merrydale in honor of Mrs. Merry.

Mrs. W. E. Quillian, camp director, is in charge of the drive for the camp building project, which she will explain in a talk at tonight's gathering.

Mrs. Quillian and Mrs. Ferrall are making the dinner arrangements.

LOSES LEG IN AUTO MISHAP

Five Persons Are Injured When Car Hits Guard Rail On Rt. 46

A Cleveland man had his right leg amputated and four others were injured less seriously when a car in which they were riding went off Route 46, a mile south of Columbiana, and struck a guard rail at 4:30 p. m. Monday, state highway patrolmen reported.

William Rowe, 20, of Cleveland, lost his right leg as a result of the accident, Salem City hospital attendants said. He also suffered bruises and cuts of the body and severe shock.

The driver of the car, Darwin K. Monnin, 24, of Cleveland, received cuts of the head and legs, while Roy Rowe, 25, Cleveland, Betty Rowe, 22, of Pittsburgh, Helen McClure, 18, of Pittsburgh, all suffered minor cuts about the head, body and limbs. All were treated at City hospital and then released.

Monnin told patrolmen he swerved off the road as he made a sweep around a curve to the right, struck guard rails which threw the car back across to the other side of the road. It did not overturn, but was demolished, patrolmen said.

Airman Falls Four Miles Into Ocean

Tossed From TWA Plane When Plastic Dome On Top Breaks

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, March 11.—A navigator sighting on the stars from his plastic bubble atop Trans World Airline's "Star of Hollywood" was tossed through the dome and dropped four miles into the Atlantic ocean 500 miles out of Gander, Newfoundland, last night, TWA officials here announced.

Victim of the freak accident was George Hart of Sag Harbor, Long Island, N. Y. TWA officials said. The pilot was D. E. Hamilton of Alexandria, Va.

The plane, which was flying at an air speed of about 250 miles an hour at an altitude of 19,000 feet, made a safe return to the Gander airport at 10:34 p. m. (EST). The accident occurred at 7:28 p. m. (EST).

The Coast Guard sent a message to all ships in the area to be on the lookout for the lost navigator. The guard said there was scant possibility he could have survived the long fall.

Officials of Lockheed Aircraft Co., manufacturers of the Constellation plane, said their service man at Gander advised them that the 21 passengers "hardly knew anything had happened until the plane landed at Gander."

The Lockheed officials said parts of the plastic bubble, or astro-dome, which rises about 18 inches above the top of the plane over the forward flight deck, were still in its frame.

The flight deck is separate from the passengers' compartment. Reports received here did not state whether other members of the ten-man crew saw Navigator Hart leave the plane, or what had caused the plastic dome to break and the navigator to be thrown upward through the opening.

BOARD FEARS STATE FUNDS WILL BE SHY

Salem Teachers Are Given Assurance At Meeting On Monday

The board of education, complying with a request from its teachers, may ask the voters of Salem to approve a special operating expense levy in the near future to provide for an increase in teachers salaries.

The board told the Salem Teachers association salary committee Monday night that it would ask the voters for a special levy for that purpose if a bill currently before the Ohio assembly, increasing school foundation funds, was not ample to cover local needs.

All Propositions Are Debatable

It is difficult to believe the meeting of foreign ministers in Moscow has anything to do with life in Podunk, U.S.A. But it does.

Secretary of State Marshall and Foreign Ministers Bevin, Bidault and Molotov are going to decide in a general way the fate of two diametrically-opposed propositions.

One is to proceed with the reunification of Germany along the lines now being followed; to keep the reich divided among its mutually mistrustful conquerors.

The other is to develop peace terms for Germany and Austria which would rehabilitate them as the economic heart of Europe, giving them a chance to regain the power and prestige they lost in defeat.

The latter would seem to be the humanitarian choice. It is based on the same impulses of Christian charity which caused former President Hoover a few days ago to recommend that the United States should advance huge sums of money to feed the Germans who are starving.

It is the choice favored instinctively by Americans, who are equipped neither by instinct nor experience to abuse a fallen enemy. But the proposition to rehabilitate Germany is debatable.

The obvious fact is that if Germany again became a European power again it would be involved in the world contest for prestige. Twice in this century a strong Germany has erupted in a deadly explosion of power politics. Distressing as it is to think of the Germans in a helpless, hopeless condition, it isn't half so distressing as it has been to think of them trying to conquer the world. If there can be such a thing as an habitual war criminal among nations, Germany has earned that distinction.

Those who are willing to risk this claim that the alternative is to drive Germany and its potential war-making power into the outstretched arms of the Soviet Union. They believe that Germany, if rehabilitated, would fall into the camp of the democracies. It rushed pell-mell into the camp of dictatorships after a distressing experiment in democracy which Germans neither understood nor cared for. It may be that the consequence of keeping Germany divided and at the mercy of its mistrustful conquerors would be to strengthen Communism. So the proposition to destroy Germany is debatable, too. For one thing, it may be impossible for an army of occupation to destroy a nation without destroying itself, an ironic consequence of nihilism which some thoughtful observers claim to have observed among United States troops.

Whatever happens in Moscow is as close to Podunk, U.S.A., as the children who would be involved in World War III if it were to be started by the wrong kind of a peace treaty for Germany.

That Would Not Be Dandy

Florentino LaGuardia, who did not come forward to explain that the LaGuardia-Norris Act was not intended to deprive the sovereign power of the injunction power in labor disputes, now has come forward with a thought on union organization.

Merge all labor organizations into one big union, he advises Congress. Then divide the one big union into departments for transportation, mining, professional and entertainment workers, and all other skills and trades. That, he suggests, would be dandy.

LaGuardia does not add that one big union would have one big president and one big group of advisers who thereupon could make one big decision to tie up the whole country in one big strike—and that would not be dandy.

As long as the United States continues to have certain basic convictions about the undesirability of monopoly, the labor unions are powerful enough the way they are now.

Add Salt To Taste

Paraphrasing, because the Truman womenfolk leave politics to the head of the family, Mrs. Martha K. Truman, the President's mother, is a political asset of incalculable value.

If she really made the crack about the Lincoln bed in the White House—refusing to sleep in it because of her own sympathies—she gets credit for knowing her own mind. If she didn't make it, she might have, and President Pat Neff of Baylor University, who brought the thing to light, is sure she did.

The President's mother, as almost everybody knows, is confined to her bed with casts on both legs, the result of a recent fall. At the age of 94, she refuses to be discouraged, although she may never walk again. Her perceptions are sharp. Her observations are keen. As women go, in politics, she isn't going anywhere, but in the delicate art of providing the people with a presidential family which suits their composite taste, she has become the indispensable dash of salt.

Good Subsidies and Bad

Senator Byrd's committee on economy figures that the federal government has distributed $40,000,000,000 in public subsidies and grants-in-aid in the last 12 years. That's about $800 for every wage earner in the nation.

Subsidy payments have declined considerably in recent years, but the committee hopes to find additional ways of cutting them. Federal payments to states will be given special scrutiny, for many of the states have had lush pickings during the war years while the federal government has gone into debt as never before.

Federal subsidies and grants-in-aid have accomplished much good—wildlife restoration, reforestation, welfare projects, highway improvement and housing developments. But these payments also have disrupted the relationship between consumers and producers of goods by delaying correction of the basic maladjustments which originally caused the need for the subsidies. That should be taken into consideration in any future subsidy program: Is the money serving a corrective purpose or is it just a handful of sand on the levee in the flood season?

The Stars Say

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, March 12

THE prospects are excellent for fresh starts on an entirely new build-up or course of action, in which those in prestige and financial stability are found ready and willing to generously contribute.

Under this expansive and productive influence large and important projects may be launched with confidence and high ambition. Joint interests encourage this attack upon advanced goals in which important objectives swiftly materialize. The element of luck may have its advantages as well as bright ideas.

On the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are encouraged to forge ahead, with brave ideas, large aspirations and objectives, in which the cooperation of those in financial standing and business stability are of prime importance.

Develop astute and clever plans, well-developed and organized and then go after the "big interests" who, being logically impressed, may be as well, generously inclined. In all such operations Lady Luck may also play a significant part. Personal or romantic interests partake of such benign prospects.

A child born on this day may have high and worthy ambitions or aspirations, with the efficiency and good fortune to put them over. Powerful interests and sheer luck have part in this happy prospect.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Three Ills Caused By Vitamin Deficiency

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Practically the only vitamin deficiency diseases seen in children of the United States with any frequency are rickets, tetany and scurvy.

It is a pity, however, that even these occur, for the thing to remember about a vitamin deficiency disease is that nobody need ever have it in these days when vitamins are to be had in so many forms.

Rickets results from a lack of Vitamin D. Vitamin D is formed in the skin when it is exposed to ultra-violet rays from the sunshine or from a lamp.

Children who grow rapidly are more likely to develop rickets than those who grow slowly. Other things which seem to influence the occurrence of this condition are the type of feeding, the skin color and prematurity.

Thus, a breast-fed child is less likely to develop rickets than the bottle-fed baby. In this regard a blonde child has the edge over a dark-skinned one, and a baby born at normal term is safer from rickets than is the premature infant.

Signs of Rickets

The signs of rickets include softening of the skull bones, enlargement of the bones in the forehead, enlargements where the ribs join the breastbone, and enlargement of the wrists and ankles. Later such things as bowlegs, knock-knees and malformations of the chest may occur.

Unless rickets is severe it does not interfere greatly with the general health although there is a lowered resistance to upper respiratory infections. If there is any question as to diagnosis, an X-ray examination may be carried out. Of course, the treatment consists of giving large amounts of Vitamin D as well as the proper diet.

Spasm of Muscles

Tetany is a condition in which there is spasm of various muscles and often convulsions. One form of this condition is due to a Vitamin D deficiency. The symptoms often may be brought on by an infection.

The diagnosis of tetany may be confirmed by determining the amount of calcium or lime in the blood serum. In tetany the blood calcium is reduced. The treatment consists of giving Vitamin D and calcium.

Scurvy occurs because of a lack of Vitamin C. The symptoms consist of irritability, loss of appetite, fever, swelling near the joints and bleeding of the gums. This condition also is not difficult to diagnose, and it may be prevented by giving the infant orange juice or tomato juice in liberal amounts. Vitamin C or ascorbic acid may also be employed.

All these diseases have decreased sharply during the past 20 years and we can do away with them altogether by watchfulness and care to begin the proper foods or vitamins early enough.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

FOREMEN RULE HANDS DOWN

Court Decision Leaves Congress With Three Labor Choices

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 11.—The Supreme court left a broad hint today that if it wants to keep the exclusion of union men from the nation's plants, mills and mines, it will have to write a new law on the subject.

A 5 to 4 decision by the tribunal presented these choices to the lawmakers on the controversy over unionization of the men who boss the nation's plants, mills and mines:

1. To write a provision in the Wagner Labor Relations act relieving employers of the obligation to bargain with a union of their supervisors. This, in effect, would cancel out yesterday's Supreme court decision.

2. To write a provision specifically extending collective bargaining protection to unions of supervisors which are not affiliated with rank and file organizations. This would spell out by law the interpretation of the present statute which the court handed down.

3. To grant or withhold those privileges where the bosses are members of the same union as production workers. This point has not yet been passed on by the Supreme court, and probably won't be before next October.

A case involving John L. Lewis' mine foremen's union is headed toward the tribunal but is still before lower courts.

Significantly, the court's decision yesterday involved supervisory employees who were not in the same union as the rank and file workers.

The court's decision yesterday concerned the Packard Motor Car Co. of Detroit and the Foremen's Association of America, an independent union for supervisory workers only.

Easter Hats To Suit Many Individuals

Left, jade green off-the-face toque; taffeta trimmed straw poke (top right); black meline roller (below). Hats in many moods, distinctively designed to suit the individual and to climax any costume, were offered in an Easter millinery presentation at the Waldorf, New York City, recently. The showing was divided into three groups: first the city sailors to wear with tulle; poke bonnets for afternoon ensembles; and models selected for after dark wear. The three chapeaux pictured above were created by Milgrim for around-the-clock wear. Nothing could be more appropriate and becoming for the tailored outfit than the toque. The one shown (left) is an off-the-face model in jade green banded with forget-me-nots and roses and with a soft green veil draped over the crown and brim to tie in the back. The black shiny poke bonnet (top right) is ideal for afternoon dates. It features an open crown, and is trimmed with shades of taffeta ribbon that form a full pom-pom. The black meline off-the-face roller (below) is for the cocktail hour, dinner and the theater. It is trimmed with two sprays of field flowers and fuchsia bows. (International)

Two-Color Skirt Dwarfs Hip Size

Smash style hit which tops a dark skirt with a light-colored jacket may not have been created for the hippy girl but she can take full advantage of it for figure improvement.

This solves her problem by giving her a light top that magnifies proportions, a dark skirt that dwarfs hip size.

Another style boon which designers make available to the hippy girl is that of placing details at a safe distance from her hips. Details—often of eye-baiting color—which flag attention away from her hips are placed at the throat, shoulders, waistline and above the elbows.

Skirt disguise of hips—long lacking in fashions—is back in pleats and gathers, released below the waist; in a circular flare that bells out from the slender, upper part of the hips to conceal the bulge below.

Back fullness is often inserted in a sheath of a skirt to hide a hip bulge that needs concealment.

REJECTS REDS ATOMIC PLAN

Austin, U. S. Security Council Representative, Raps Method

(By Associated Press)
LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 11.—Warren R. Austin, of the United States, flatly rejected Soviet Russia's counter-plan for atomic control today, charging that it would provide for a system which "at worst would be a constant incentive to distrust and war."

The chief American delegate also told the United Nations Security Council that this country was not attempting to establish an atomic energy monopoly as Russia has charged.

On the contrary, he said, it had from the first attempted to gain safeguards so that the world could benefit from the atomic discoveries without danger.

Lashing at the 78-minute Russian declaration of last Wednesday when Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko turned down the United States atomic control plan again and revived his own proposals, Austin said:

"The proposals put forward by the Soviet government do not in our view contain constructive suggestions."

"They do not provide for an international system of control of atomic energy at all. They provide for a system which at best would give no security, and at worst would be a constant incentive to distrust and war."

Austin called for sending the question back to the U. N. Atomic Commission.

Weather Statistician Says Winter Ended

CLEVELAND, March 11.—Weatherman C. G. Andrus jotted down the figure 92 today and proclaimed winter at an end—officially—in this area.
It's a new-fangled method of computing the seasons, Andrus explained, and assumed there are only 92 cold days in the year. This is the 92nd such day, he said.

Faces Old Charge After Normal Life

LANSING, Mich., March 11.—Melvin Shane, middle-aged businessman who fled from an Ohio prison camp in 1935 and became the operator of a Detroit defense plant during World War II, must return to Ohio to face charges.

Governor Kim Sigler authorized Shane's extradition today after a lengthy hearing at which Shane's attorneys said more than 100 prominent Detroiters, including several unidentified labor leaders, had urged clemency for the escapee.

Shane freely admitted to the governor that he escaped from the London, O., prison farm Aug. 23, 1935, after slugging a guard with an iron pipe. He was serving a one-to-twenty year term for unlawful possession of explosives and burglary tools.

The governor told the fugitive he would be "glad to recommend" to Ohio authorities that "they take into full account the fact that you have rehabilitated yourself in Michigan and the kind of life you have lived."

Shane operates a machine screw shop.

Bricker Questions Lillenthal Record

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) said that FBI records raise a "serious question" concerning the loyalty of some Atomic Energy Commission employees appointed by David Lillenthal and General Manager Carroll Wilson.

Bricker made the statement to reporters late yesterday after the senate atomic committee's vote favoring the nomination of Lillenthal as commission chairman. The Ohioan cast the only vote against Lillenthal, who like Wilson has been serving with the commission on an interim appointment.

"The records of the FBI which were finally made available to the committee and then only in the last two days of the hearing, reveal that some of the top appointments already made by Mr. Lillenthal and Wilson, are subject to serious question as to their loyalty to our form of government," Bricker said.

Bricker said he had been advised this morning that the commission has taken action of some sort with respect to two high officials whose loyalty, he said, had been opened to question by the FBI report. He said he did not know just what that action was.

He said that abstracts of the FBI investigations would be inserted in the committee's official record of the hearings.

Bricker declared that members of the commission should have the implicit confidence of the people of the United States. He called Lillenthal, a former chief of the Tennessee Valley authority, a controversial figure with loyal friends and bitter enemies.

He has been active in what might be called liberal—and some designate it radical—movements in this country," he said.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Ever wonder what happens to your income tax return after you turn it in?

Does anyone ever really check it to see whether you're right, or wrong, or maybe cheating?

Every return is checked. But only three per cent are investigated in the sense that a government agent tries to take them apart.

Why are so few investigated? Manpower, or rather the lack of it. The Internal Revenue bureau has about 27,000 auditors and investigators.

So the three per cent of returns investigated last year represented only about 1,500,000 out of about 50,000,000 returns filed.

This year the number will go up a bit because more agents have been added.

The smaller your income, the less effort by the government to investigate it. Why?

Because the amount which might be recovered by the government is too small for the time and manpower it would take.

(Those investigated in the lower income brackets are picked out because the agents have reason to believe something is wrong with them.)

The higher the income is above $7,000, the tighter the investigation until, in the higher brackets, it's almost 100 per cent.

The chances for cheating are greater in the higher brackets. And there—in relation to the time and effort used—the chances of recovering money for the government are likewise greater.

This doesn't mean the great majority of returns are just marked "okay" and tossed into the files as finished.

When you send your return to the local collector, his staff checks it to see that its arithmetic is correct.

Then copies of every income tax return are sent to a central office in New York City. Why there?

Because in that place the government has collected all the information it has obtained on all taxpayers. For example:

Reports from your boss on how much he paid you; reports from banks and corporations on interest and dividends paid you; and maybe a tip from someone to watch your return for fraud.

So the copy of your return, sent to New York by your local collector, is checked against the other information in your file there.

If anything is found wrong, the New York office reports back to your local collector who may do one of several things:

He'll send you a refund if you've paid too much tax. If you haven't paid enough, he may notify you by mail to straighten it out.

Or, he may tell you to come to his office, or he may send someone to check on your books.

If you think the government agent who has checked on you is wrong, you can appeal to his boss.

If you're turned down all along the line, you finally can appeal to the U. S. tax court.

This court has 16 judges who travel around the country to hear appeals from people who think they're being taxed too much.

For example: If you live in New Orleans and have appealed to the court, you can wait there till one of the judges gets around to New Orleans.

Most people settle their cases before they get to the tax court because you need a lawyer to represent you there.

So the tax court judges' almost entirely hear complaints involving large amounts of money.

Rural Zoning Program Becomes Lively Issue

COLUMBUS, March 11.—Rural zoning, either county-wide or by township, developed today into one of the liveliest issues before the Ohio legislature.

As the house judiciary committee wrestled with the question proponents and opponents crowded into the hearing room to debate the subject and then saw chairman J. E. Simpson (R-Hardin) appoint a sub-committee to draft a bill attempting to combine features of three measures under consideration.

Two propose county-wide zoning through the county commissioners and the other by the township trustees.

All proponents argues that some type of rural planning was necessary especially in the territory surrounding the larger cities.

Joe Thomas of Hayesville, president of the Ohio Township Trustees and Clerks' association, favored township planning with the voters of the township determining whether it should be established.

J. D. Landis of Montgomery county, a hauling contractor, said the cost of county zoning would be $100,000 a year. "It is the best bill I ever saw to get rid of public money," he said.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

News Notes Of Activities Of Ohio Senators, Representatives

By EARL BERKLEY

WASHINGTON, March 11—Ohio State university's dean of engineering is sure that scientific education and politics won't mix.

Also chief of the university's engineering experimental station, Charles Ellison Mac Quigg of Columbus wants congress to toss partnership out of the window before acting on legislation to create a national science foundation.

Other observations he made as a witness before the house commerce committee:

Such a foundation is necessary to regain ground lost in research during the war, and Existing agencies are unable to do the postwar job.

Looking more like a businessman than the learned engineer that he is, Mac Quigg has a generation of experience in his field behind him.

During the war, he was a member of the national defense research committee and a regional adviser of engineering, science and management war training.

Before that he was chairman of the engineering college research association on legislation, since merged with the American Society for Engineering Education.

Mac Quigg agreed with Secretary of War Patterson's assertion to the committee that the "scientific resources of the entire nation are now necessary for security," but he went further.

Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins of Iron-ton wants the senate-house budget conference committee, of which he is a member, to guard against hurried action.

The committee was named to reconcile differences between the house and senate over President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget for the year beginning July 1. With Jenkins' support, the house lopped $6,000,000,000 off the budget. The senate cut it by $4,500,000,000.

Jenkins won't predict what the conferees will do but he told a reporter he wants careful consideration and no haste.

Member of the tax-writing house ways and means committee, Jenkins said the conferees intended to withhold comment until the tough job is done.

"While I am in favor of a $6,000,000,000 reduction," he said, "I do not know what amount will be decided upon by the conference committee, once it gets into the task."

Class A and B Tournaments to Continue With Regional Battles

BY FRITZ HOWELL

Sports For Ohio
COLUMBUS, March 11—Most of the one-man teams have fallen by the wayside, and from now on the "one for all and all for one" teams will battle it out for Ohio's 1946-47 High school basketball laurels.

Only 32 of some 1,800 squads were left today to compete in regional races this weekend—and only eight of them, four in Class A and four in Class B—will come to the state capital March 20, 21 and 22 to fight it out for the Buckeye championship.

Hundreds of the teams, with one star player bearing the brunt for inadequate mates, failed in the month-long eliminations. The survivors, although most of them are studded with talent, are smooth-working machines built on the "let's all get in there and go" principle. Class A regionals are booked this week-end at Kent, Dayton, Bowling Green and New Concord, with "B" regionals at Kent, Athens, Springfield and Bowling Green.

There are still plenty of name players on hand to make a bid for headlines. The defending champion Middletown team, beaten seven times this year and survivor of three straight narrow squeaks in tournament play, bungs into Cincinnati Roger Bacon Friday at Dayton. Once again S. Lindville, super-star of the Middies, may provide the margin.

Upper Arlington, the only unbeaten Class A team, with 22 straight wins in the Dayton regional, with three-beaten Dayton Fairmont as its first-round foe. That should bring up a great duel between Jud Million of Arlington and Junior Norris of the Dayton crew—both top-notchers.

Over at New Concord's Class A regional, keep an eye on Ed Palmer of Canton Township. Will Matthews of Cambridge, Bob Young and D. Williams of Marietta, and Allen Bailey of East Liverpool. East Liverpool's thrice-beaten

Potters reached in the hat and drew out Canton Township's twice edged quintet, coached by Red Ash. The other New Concord game will pit Cambridge against powerful Marietta, blessed with a 6-9 center of some capability.

At Bowling Green, in Friday's opener, Fasset of Findlay and Dick Messner of Ashland are the two to watch, while the other contest matches Defiance's Stocum and Pohlman against Toledo Woodward's John Kornowa, one of the state's really great guards.

Clarence Yackey of Strasburg, who has paced his team to 29 wins in 39 starts is the no. 1 eye-catcher at Kent's Class B carnival, but Goist and Meyers of Springfield township, Don Eswen of Columbiana and Lee Thomas and Stephenson of Lowellville will make it hot for him.

Stokes of Frazesburg heads the list at the Athens Class B event, for he's the bell-ringer on the club that has won 30 in a row for Coach Woody Gebhart and that Muskingum county village of 850. Last year Frazesburg won 20 and lost 6 without a coach, but Gebhart came back from the service to take over and has turned out a combination compared with the famed Waterloo Wonders of the last decade.

Stokes won't be the entire show, however, for Jones of Corning and Farson of Columbus Rosary will be there, too. Over at Bowling Green, the hot-shots loom as Pepper of Holgate and Shull of Corning, although New Knoxville with an 18-2 record, and Troy-Luckey with 24-1, are in the same event.

At Springfield, where Bradford and Plain City meet in Thursday night's opener, the big show is expected Friday when Singleton Lockland, Wayne, matches up and accuracy with Bohlender Phillipsburg.

Only one team in each class come from the regionals to state finals, so three-fourths the current survivors can't make the grade.

And of the four teams in each class reaching the finals, only one can take the title. It's the biggest basketball show in the country and it takes a champion to win. Flukes, over that route, are out.

SALEM VFW OUTFIT SLATED IN TOURNEY AT YOUNGSTOWN

Will Open Against Martins Ferry at 6:30 P. M. On Thursday at South

Salem will have a representative in the Veterans of Foreign Wars state basketball finals at Youngstown South field house this week, the Salem VFW outfit scheduled to meet Martins Ferry at 6:30 p. m. Thursday.

Victorious over Alliance 51-46 and Canton post by a 49-38 margin at the Sixth district tournament at Canton last weekend, Salem entered the finals against a tough Canton post No. 693 and lost 69-52.

The local VFW outfit boasts a power-laden outfit and should be among the top contenders for laurels in the Wednesday through Saturday event.

Capt. Jimmie Kleon, Sam Pridon, Kirby Laughlin, Torch Nedelka, Dueter Miller, Charles Franks, Walt Brian, Dick Miner, Bob Soullon and Dick Kautz make up the squad with Jim Hunter as manager and Kathy Kleon as mascot.

At Canton the Salem team won the runnersup trophy, the right to enter the finals this week and individual gold basketball.

Kathy Kleon accepted the trophy for the team, which was presented by State VFW Commander Allen Webber.

Tournament Director Roy DePaul said today that 15 teams will be entered in the South field house finals, including teams from Cleveland, Toledo, Salem, Cuyahoga Falls, Parma, East Liverpool, Martins Ferry, Columbus and other district winners.

Kirby Laughlin has been the outstanding star of Salem's team in competition so far, scoring a high of 26 points in one game, 16 and 15 in others. Sam Pridon, husky center, racked up 15 points in one tilt. A large delegation of Salem fans is expected.

FELLER'S BIG WISH

Wants to Pitch In World Series; Is Optimistic About Indians

(By Associated Press)
TUCSON, Ariz., March 11—Know what Bob Feller, the man who may make as much as $80,000 this year, wants more than anything?

"I'd like to pitch in the World Series," the ace pitcher said in a short pause between workouts with the Cleveland Indians.

"That," the onetime Iowa farm boy shrugged, "is about all that's left for me."

There wasn't much rebuttal for that. After all, the 28-year-old fireballer set a record of 348 strikeouts last year, pitched his second no-hit game and brought his total of one-hitters to eight.

Coming direct to the majors at 17, he has averaged 18 victories per playing season, deducting three full seasons in the navy. In All-Star games, he has allowed National League one run and five hits in 11 2/3 innings pitched.

What are the Indians' chances of winning the pennant and making that dream come true this year?

"Well, maybe not the best," Feller conceded. "But we'll make a lot of teams step. This is a greatly improved club."

The Tribe, despite Feller's 26 wins against 15 defeats, finished sixth in 1946.

The team to beat, Rapid Robert believes, is the Detroit Tigers but "don't forget the Red Sox are champions until they're licked."

Biggie Munn & Company

Printz Club Victors Over Alliance Five

The Printz club of Salem's Class B loop topped an Alliance club Saturday night in the Memorial building by a 31-28 score.

Leading the locals in the scoring column was Amos Dunlap, who collected seven points, and Robert Boone, with eight.

J. Snodgrass notched 11 for Alliance.

Clint Hartung Becomes Giants' Problem Rookie

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Giant rookie Clint Hartung, living up to advance stories concerning his baseball ability, is causing Manager Mel Ott no little concern. The Hondo (Tex.) Hurricane is proving to be a better pitcher than outfielder, but still continues to rattle the tin fence here with singles and doubles.

Ott could use another pitcher, but with Hartung on the mound, his big bat would suffer. And Ott is not in the position to turn down base hits. So, reluctantly, it's Hartung to the outfield. Although Clint has posed the problem, Ott would like to have a dozen similar worries.

AMVETS Win First Tournament Game

The Salem AMVETS, bolstered by the addition of two Salem High varsity players, Jim Laughlin and Francis Lanney, swept to an easy win in their first round game in the 26th annual Sebring All-Ohio basketball tournament Monday night in the Mount Union college gym.

They defeated the Wyatt Apex A. C. of Canton, 39-23.

Big Sam Pridon collected 10 points to lead the AMVETS to their triumph. Lanney notched eight, including six out of six free throws. The AMVETS led 18-9 at halftime and stretched their margin during the final two quarters.

The team will play in the Sebring High gym at 6 p. m. Wednesday. They are slated to meet the winner of the Greensburg-Berlin Center tilt, played last night in the Goshen gym.

Boyle's COLUMN

BY HAL BOYLE

NASSAU, Bahamas—Man's oldest dream—to own a quiet island of his own—is something of a nightmare to people who have islands to sell.

For post-war escapists who yearn to "get away from it all" and build a far away sea-ringed kingdom where they can live in a private world have no idea what responsibility that requires.

No one knows this better than real estate dealers and the crown lands officer of this British colony who get hundreds of letters from dreamy minded would-be island owners.

"There never has been so many people who wanted to escape," said one real estate dealer.

But most prospective purchasers hurriedly back away when they find that developing an island is a much more difficult task than buying a bungalow in the suburbs.

There is no shortage of islands for sale in this coral and blue archipelago in the gulf stream off Florida. You can buy them from $2,000 to $50,000—yes, the price of islands has gone up, too, but buying an island is only the first step—and only a well-heeled determined man ought to put out his foot that far.

"Owning an island is a dream hard to accomplish," said Howell Rees of the Bahamas Information bureau, "and most inquiries come to nothing when the prospective buyers find the problems they face."

"You've got the problems of building a home, arranging for transportation, and setting up water and power supplies and a sanitation system."

A good boat is essential. But on an island you can't go down to a corner drugstore and order a malted milk and a sandwich. You have to import most of your food.

It is also a lonely life, unless you are willing to settle on a populated larger island $5 to $200 or more an acre, on which you can trade coconuts and grapefruit with fellow Robinson Crusoes.

But if you have some financial resources and are hardy, there are compensations. The swimming, fishing and sunsets are unexcelled—and the hurricane season lasts only a few months each year.

Best known American island dweller here is John T. McCutcheon, Chicago Tribune cartoonist, whose dream came true on "Treasure Island," where he has a winter home. But his island is only a few miles by motor boat from the social life at Nassau, if he wearies of his paradise.

The British crown owns many Bahamian islands, but declines to sell them for real estate speculation.

They are available only to serious colonizers and the title reverts to a purchaser only after he has completed specified developments. The crown would like the islands settled by people who will make homes there and till the soil. One inducement: There are no income taxes.

Another lure is the scant possibility of finding long-buried plunder left by Bluebeard and other pirates who once made the Bahamas their rendezvous.

You probably will get to retain any loot you find provided you promptly report it to the proper official—the district coroner.

Such "treasure-troves" legally belong to the crown, but the crown has agreed in such cases to let the finder keep it or—if the crown wants to turn it over to a museum—to pay the finder the full market value.

He can then afford to move back to the city.

Wife of Sen. Barkley Dies of Heart Ailment

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Mrs. Alben W. Barkley, wife of the Kentucky senator, died at 8 a. m. today after a long illness. She was 64.

Death was attributed to a heart ailment.

Mrs. Barkley was born Nov. 14, 1882, at Mayfield, Va., and received her education in Mayfield and Paducah, Ky.

She and Senator Barkley were married June 23, 1903.

She had three children, Mrs. Douglas MacArthur, of Paris, whose husband, a nephew of General Douglas MacArthur, is with the American embassy; Mrs. Max O. Truitt, of Washington, and David M. Barkley, Paducah.

Maple Syrup Price High As Chardon Plans Fete

CHARDON, March 11.—A tentative season price of $5 a gallon for maple syrup has been set as Geauga county makes preparations for the biggest maple festival it has ever had.

The traditional festival, which will be held here April 11, 12 and 13, is expected to draw 140,000 persons.

With the season progressing slowly, operators in the county anticipate a good flow of sap—enough they hope, to meet the demand, which is expected to be unusually heavy. It takes 4,000 gallons of sap for the festival in a normal year.

Having had two successive years with practically no syrup, people are syrup starved, officials said. He reported orders are coming in from all parts of the country, some as large as 500 gallons.

SO THEY SAY

Discipline should be restored to the home and to the schools where teachers should be allowed to punish children who refuse to obey. Somebody ought to be putting what we call the fear of God into the children of America.

—Charles J. Dutton, former Pennsylvania parole agent.

We are ready to admit many things about ourselves at times but the main thing, and that is our guilt before God.

—Rev. Dr. Ralph Long, National Lutheran Council director.

That armed force underlies diplomacy has been made abundantly clear.

—Admiral Thomas C. Kinkaid, Commander Eastern Sea Frontier.

Why freight rates are going up...

Since 1939, railroad employees have had three general pay raises totaling 52 1/2%, and the prices of fuel, materials and supplies have risen 61 1/2%.

But when the war ended in 1945, the railroads were still hauling freight at rates no higher, and in some cases lower, than when the war began.

Without increased revenues, railroads could not meet these costs and also provide improvements in equipment and facilities—improvements that are essential for the low-cost freight and passenger services which are necessary to America's high standard of living.

Under these circumstances—and almost a year after the last major wage increase—the Interstate Commerce Commission recently approved an average increase in freight rates of 17 6/10%.

Of all the price increases in America today, few have been so little and so late as that in the price of railroad transportation.

How important are healthy railroads to a prosperous country?

Only when the railroads are financially healthy can they provide the new equipment, improved road beds, and better terminal facilities needed for still better service to you.

The defense of the nation depends upon the continuance of the efficient transportation which served the nation so well in the last war.

The railroads are among the largest employers of labor. They buy over 100,000 different products. They pay big taxes—taxes which are spent not only for public schools, public health, and police and fire protection, but even for highways, airways, airports and inland waterways.

Railroads are America's lifeline—keeping goods flowing among the 48 states day and night in all weather.

They can continue to do this only if there is a reasonable balance between income and outgo. Like yourself, the railroads must make ends meet!

We are publishing this and other advertisements to talk with you at first hand about matters which are important to everybody.
